

Project Manager Job Description

Job title:	Project Manager
Reports to:	Head of Project Management
Department:	Economic Consulting

Job Purpose

The primary purpose of this role is to assume responsibility for the management of a portfolio of economic consulting projects. The job involves the management of internal resources (economic consultants, data scientists), liaising with external consulting academic experts and communicating being the primary point of contact for clients on each project.

About Fideres

Fideres is an economic consulting firm specialised in economic analysis of competition litigation matters. It has been engaged by all major US and UK litigation law firms, governments, and other public-sector entities to assist in numerous high-profile antitrust investigations and private litigation, spanning across several industries and jurisdictions. Fideres's team includes more than 30 economists based in London, Frankfurt and New York. Many hold MScs and PhDs from leading economics departments in Europe and the US, and several hold academic positions across Europe and the US. Over the past 5 years, Fideres has grown organically at a rate of 30% to 50% a year. This role is of crucial importance to Fideres's expansion plans and will report to the Head of Project Management.

Key Accountabilities

Project Management

- Overseeing projects and managing a small team of quantitative analysts
- Conducting detailed economic and statistical analysis of market manipulation or anti-trust allegations as part of the delivery of Fideres' consulting mandates
- Writing comprehensive reports that summarize the key findings of our analysis in a simple, succinct manner
- Verbally presenting work product to clients in a manner that allows them to understand both the results and how they impact their own clients

Operational tasks

- Maintain up-to-date client records in Fideres's CRM system and project management records

Required Skills

- Proven experience as economic consultant at a consulting firm
- Clear and robust communication and presentation skills
- Ability to write about complex issues in simple terms, understandable by those with no financial background
- Excellent relationship building and interpersonal skills
- Strong organizational skills
- Exceptional interpersonal skills and capacity to work in a team under tight deadlines
- Strong analytical and numerical skills, especially financial and/or economic analysis and econometric/statistics
- Proficiency in R, Python or similar statistical software
- Excellent communication skills and ability to engage in face-to-face conversations with clients and prospects with confidence
- PC skills including Microsoft Office, in particular Word and PowerPoint
- Effective multi-tasking and management of deadlines
- Sensitive handling of confidential data and information

Required Attributes

- Responsive to client needs and be able to deliver solutions that meet those needs
- Takes the initiative
- Self-motivated to perform in a demanding business environment and to assume a wide range of responsibilities
- Innovative and consistently looking to improve processes
- Focused on delivery and committed to seeing projects through to their close
- Strong attention to detail
- Demonstrates high levels of integrity
- Sensitive to maintain strict confidentiality
- Not afraid to express an opinion and offer new solutions

Required Experience

- Experience at an economic consulting firm, ideally with a focus on competition economics litigation matters
- Experience in managing economic consulting projects
- Experience of dealing directly with clients: law firms and regulators

Application Procedures

Please submit your curriculum vitae and a letter explaining your motivation to join Fideres and your interest in the role offered to the email address specified below:

Fideres Careers
Tel. +44 20 3397 5160
careers@fideres.com
www.fideres.com